BOARD OF EDUCATION

Last Meeting of the Old Bo ard-An Easy Death-The New Board as, Appointed by Mayor Hall.

The Board of Education Fet last evening at the mula hour, with the president, Mr. R. L. Larremore, in the chair. As it was generally known that this was to be the last regular meeting of the Board there was evidently much curiosity evinced by outde parties as to the manner in which the members Board Would shuffle off the coil of official cares. The looky was crowded by members of the poards of trustees from the various wards, delegaons of School teachers and citizens, each one of hom, perhaps, imagined that he was to be one of the chosen dozen who should take in hand the business to "teach the young idea how to shoot." Speculation was rife as to who the appointees of the Mayor would be, and though parties supposed to be posted were quizzed in regard to the matter they could give no nformation further than that received from Dame munor. The members of the Board, with the excepon of Commissioners Warren, Jackson, Kaiser and uck, were in their places, and generally in an appantly joily mood, regardless of the fact that they had een legislated out of office and that the eyes of the public were on them. The usual preliminaries hav-ing been disposed of the communications which overed the president's desk were taken up and laid over or referred to the appropriate committees. mong the resolutions introduced was one offered y Commissioner West, providing that the janitor of No. 34 be allowed the amount paid by him for rent of his house, because of his being obliged to hire apart-ments and look after three different buildings. bile No. 34 was being rebuilt. No. 34 be allowed the amount paid by him for rent of his house, because of his being obliged to hire apartments and look after three different buildings, white No. 34 was being rebuilt. Mr. Merrill moved to amend by provising for the increase of the salary of one of the lanitors in his district. Mr. Patterson moved to amend by provising for the tessing the salaries of lanitors in the Seventeenth ward. Mr. Small objected to the style of "springing" matters on the Board by taking advantage of a resolution to run in a provision for an increase of salary. Mr. Merrill denied that he was "springing" anything. The debate was for a time quite spritted, but on the vote being taken the amendments were voted down and the original resolution adopted. Another Springing in regard to a resolution offered by Commissioner Hawks to allow the parties to whom the contract for the stone work in altering the building of school No. 39, in the Nimeteenth ward, to add some $4,000, which was necessitated by the bine stone, and which they had overlooked in making out their bine. Mr. Hawks moved to instruct the Finance Committee to report last evening. Mr. Merrill did not want that skyle of business, and if these parties had made that mistake they should be some $4,000 or $5,000 lower than the next lowest bidder, and fully fifty per cent lower than some others. The resolution was adopted, notwithstanding the persistent opposition of Commissioners Merrill and Neilson, and the Finance Committee subsequently reported that the Board had the financial ability to appropriate $20,005 for the purpose of altering the building in question. The members, or at least some of them, seemed to have an idea that as this might be their last chance, and there was a large audience present, they should display their craotrical powers. A report was offered by the Committee on Teachers in favor of the appointment of two young men as principal and vice principal in one of tae schools of the Fourteenth ward, although the City Superintendent, Mr. West then said th ng to him most confidentially but be looked ahead, and smiled slightly but significantsaying "butza away, my triend, I tells

"The news spread, however, that a present, and many were the lone as to the nature or cause of the stood up to take off his overcoat. He just the same as anybody else and pulled of just precisely as any other man would, as it and sat down again just as unconlist." The major never stirred nor gave any indica-tion that he knew what a red hot roo he was hold-ing to the spines of many present. Business went on, however, and the Amating Committee reported that they had examined the accounts in the Clerk's is the Assitting Committee repor-camined the accounts in the Cler ich at to May 1 and had found the

The business before the board having been transacted Mr. Patterson moved to adjourn, but on request of Mr. Small withdrew the motion. Mr. Small then rose and from his bearing it was evident that the

that the CLOSING SCENES were about to commence. Mr. Small opened the obstuary performance by reminding the gentlemen of the fact that they had by act of the Legislature been legislated out of office and that under the circumstances he offered the following resolution:—

of the fact that they had by act of the Legislature of been legislated out of office and that under the circumstances he offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That in parting officially from each other our high suppreciation of the coursesy and impartably is the disciplination of the coursesy and impartably is the disciplination of the coursesy and impartably in the disciplination of the course and impartably in the disciplination of the resolution, and that our hearitest wishes for his future happiness and prosperly accompany him in his retirement.

Mr. Smail urged the unanimous adoption of the resolution in a very handisome manner, and Mr. Patterson seconded it in a lengthy speech, in which he extelled the virtue and Christianlike career of Mr. Larremore and referred feelingly to their long acquaintance. The clerk of the Board, Mr. Davenport, put the question on the adoption of the resolution, which was decided in the affirmative by an unmistakable vote.

Mr. Larremore then, in a really exquisite address, returned his thanks for the compliment paid him and for the consideration and support which he had ever received from the Board. In regard to the legislating of the Board out of existence he said it was the right of the State to command and theirs to obey. He trusted that the new Board would be composed of worthy men, who would direct their best efforts to the cause of education and that they will receive popular encouragement, without which they cannot succeed. The motion to adjourn was then put to the vote and decided when a faint attempt was made to get up some applause by those in the lobby.

All eyes were now turned on Major Hart, and many were the wonders expressed as to whether he was really a messenger of death to the hopes of many or only a looker on. But as the members of the Board left the sacred precincts within the railing, Mr. Hart went in and crossed over to the table at which Mr. Davenport, the cierk, was engaged. This movement seemed to assure many that the "native was there, and when names which Mr. Davenbort read out, as follows:

R. L. Larremore, S. A. Lewis, Thuothy Srennan, Isaac Beil, Magnus Gross, Lorin Ingerson, Bernard Smythe, John H. Sherwood, William V. ood, William E. Duryee, thomas Murphy, Nathap'el Sands.

The crowd then slowly dispersod, speculating as to who several of the nominee; were and what particular claims they had to b's appointed.

THE NEW APPOINTENTS

will be more readily understood from the following copy of memorands filed by the Mayor, in his office, at the time of making appointments of School Commissioners:

These selections have been decided upon with full personal knowledge of the varied and individually distinctive capathers of the has in any way sought the appointment. Also with reference to due representation of the interests distributive among the taxpayers who support the common schools, and among the families whose children enjoy their free advantages. Also with intended regard lowards the multifarious and divers duties which devolve upon the members of the Hoard of Kucation in their administrative capacities. Accordingly appears the name of the President of the retiring Board, whose experience may be parallely with the details of the system miss prove useful—'Richard L. Larremore.

And the name of one who is the oldest in school service among the retiring Commissioners, and who has had an experience of ten successive years in the educational wants of the laboring classes of citizens whose children throng the schools—'Timothy Brennan.

And on the other extreme of service the name of one of the retiring Commissioners, and who has had an experience of ten successive years in the educational wants of the laboring classes of citizens whose children throng the schools—'Timothy Brennan.

And on the other extreme of service the name of one of the retiring Commissioners in his provided the condition of the laboring classes of citizens whose children throng the schools—'Timothy Brennan.

And the name of one of the provided the provided content of the social of t who has man there and who connects himself with instruction—isanc Bell.

The Mayor entertains bopes that the educational system may escape from some of the abuses and favoritism that have been alleged against it, and may hereafter merit and secure independence to competency, and also be lifted out of some grooves which have embarrassed the full and practical progress—eached in ideas may the interest may be fell, and that there may be more attention paid to acquiring knowledge of the industrial arts—small attention to which has served to paralyze the productive labor of the country at its very source; "and that there may be readed in the state of the man the country at its very source; and that there may be more attention paid to acquiring knowledge of the industrial arts—small attention to which has served to paralyze the productive labor of the country at its very source; "and that the radical effect of the new administration may be to utilize and make more practical to the children of our citizens the system of common school education, and to work an abandonment of needless lixurious accomplishments and a more careful endeavor to fit pupils for the actual duties of life.

THE RYE NECK MURDER.

The Inquest Resumed-No Light Thrown Or

the Deed-Excitement in the Neighborhood. This mysterious tragedy, which still remains in the most hopeless gloom, appears to mystify itself with each succeeding day. Although a number of the prominent citizens of Mamaroneck and Rye Neck are working with unceasing energy to find the murderer-and in this are being aided by a corps of detectives-yet their united efforts have not culminated in anything more important than, perhaps, a faint suspicion of who might be the actual perpetrator of the deed.

As it was widely known that the Coroner's inquest would be resumed yesterday a large number of strangers congregated in the village of Mamaroneck, groups of whom might have been observed, earn estly discussing the murder, in various portions of the village. At the Town Hall-where the investi-gation was being held-the crowd not only filled every available space, but gladly occupied the door and stairway, while endeavoring to catch each sentence as it fell from the lips of the witnesses. District Attorney Dykman was present during the in-quest, and, assisted by Charles H. Roosevelt, con-ducted the case on the part of the people.

The following is the most material part of the testimony:-W. H. Perrin, being duly sworn, said:-I live in W. H. Perrin, being duly sworn, said:—I live in Mamaroneck; am a this mith by trade; on the evening of the 27th ult. Sannel Hobbs, being sworn, said:—I live at Rye Neck; am a shoemaker by trade; I saw deceased at Michael Stuber's on Monday evening, at about ten o'clock; he came in and walked with Staper into the billiard room, where they remained about five minutes, after which deceased went out; there were no strangers in the saloon at the time.

BANQUET OF EMPIRE CITY LODGE.

Empire City Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons celebrated the occupation of their new lodge room, in Booth's Building, corner of Twenty-third street and Sixth avenue, by a banquet last evening. Mr. Samuel Cohn presided. The attendance was too large for the accommodation, which, to say the least, was rather indifferent, and might certainly have been improved upon. The number of ladies present was rather indifferent, and might certainly have been improved upon. The number of ladies present was considerable, and gave a pleasant appearance to the banqueting table.

Mr. Joseph P. Jardine made the opening speech, which was happily and briefly expressed.

The toast of "The Officers of the Most Worshtyful Grand Lodge of the State of New York?" was responded to by Brother Jerome Buck. "The Masonic Order!" was ediogized by Brother Austin. "Our Invited Guesta!" were encouraged and made happy by Brother J. V. Shove. "Empire City Lodge!" had an eloquent champion in Brother Joseph P. Jardine, and "The Press!" was appropriately remembered by by brother Robert Holmes. "The Ladies" had a graceful advocate in Brother G. N. Herman. After the regular toasts a presentation book place of a set of resolutions to Mr. Goldenberg and to Mr. Jardine. Several volunteer toasts followed; then the dancing broke out in all its exhibitantly spirit and was kept up till the small hours of the morning. The committee of arrangements consisted of Mesers. Wenschenek, Jarboe, Blanck, Sinn and Glingnestein. The room looked very handsome, with its rich, heavy crimsen damask hangings at either end and around the windows in front. The tanquet would have been a more successful affair had everybody had a seat; but as a number had to stand and look on at the rest enjoying themselves it presented a little too much the appearance of a hasty lunch at a railroad station,

THE CUSTOM HOUSE.

Return of Collector Grinnell from Wash-ington-The Weekly Levee at the Colleclector's Office.

Yesterday morning Collector Grinnell, having returned from Washington, repaired, as is his "custom" of late, to his office in the big granite mausoleum in Wall street, whence Uncle Samuel draws so large a proportion of his salary. Probably no gentleman in this city has for months past been awaited with such anxious yearnings, after an absence of a couple of days only, as was Mr. Grinnell yesterday, and it must have been intensely gratifying to him to find so many friends, all with good characters, amply endorsed, bristling from their pockets, lounging about the approaches to his office, and expressing anxiety as to the state of his health, the equanimity of his temper, &c. With his usual good-natured resignation he took his seat and pre-pared for the reception yesterday, being the occathe equanimity of his temper, &c. With his usual geod-natured resignation he took his seat and prepared for the reception yesterday, being the occasion of what is known as the "Collector's weekly levée." The doors were opened and the eager visitors were politely bowed into his apartment; and after smiling their pretitest and looking imposing, honest, energetic and trustworthy, they in turn fumbled their coat skirts for their credentials. Large solid and crumpled envelopes were produced, and, the documents contained therein were submitted to the Collector, with an intimation that if he wanted a good, faithful clerk, inspector, gauger, or, in fact, "a man of all work," that anpretentious individual was at that moment confronting him. Indeed, every visitor's face seemed to bear the inscription, "I amyour man, to a dot, Mr. Collector !!" After inspecting their papers the Collector usually addressed a few words of inquiry and encouragement to his callers, and with "high hopes and beating hearts" the aspirants to the government service donned their hats and noiselessly quitted the heavily carpeted room. At last the callers began to accumulate in large numbers, and were admitted faster, until they linally formed a cordon around the room, with "oated breath and whispering humbleness" awaiting presentation. In the ante-room a large crowd was also assembled, all available seats being occupied, many standing in nooks and corners, and others blundering in the way of the clerks and attaches of the office. Occasionally an energetic individual would inject nimself into the room, breathless and hat in hand, and warring an expression that indicated that he was "bound to have an appointment." And it was strange to see some of those impulsive men stagger and stop short as they saw the groups whose "turn" was to precede theirs. There were among them old mea and young men, portly and thin, bald men and mea of very hirsute fluish, intelligent looking and lg-norant looking candidates, and a good many who looked as though they were to

THE BILLIARD TOURNAMENT.

Ninth Day-Snyder Wins Against Daniels in the Afternoon and Foster Beats Rudolphe in the Evening.

Yesterday the billiard tournament was continued at Irving Hall, it being the ninth day the thousands of lovers of this fascinating game have gathered there to witness the exciting contests for the cham pionship of America and the exquisite emblem of

This was accelerated, much to his annoyance and the disgust of the better portion of the assemblage by the repeated gratuious insuits offered him by several loafers prose in. The game was finally won in the fitty-first inning by foster, the score standing 1,2% to 766, which, considering Rudolphe's previous success and his known ability with the billiard lance, will cause great astonishment. One thing is certain, he was treated ast night as New Yorkers seldon treat a stranger, whatever his radius. The following is the score:—

BITUALISM. Lecture by Dr. J. W. Rogers.

A large and appreciative audience assembled last evening in the Cooper Institute to hear a lecture on evening in the Cooper institute to hear a lecture on "Ritualism" by Dr. J. W. Rogers, of Memphis, Tenn. Several distinguished clergymen occupied seats on the platform. The Rev. William Quinn, of St. Peter's church, introduced the lecturer, who was warnily received. He commenced by stating that, having been an Episcopal clergyman almost from his boyhood, from the time he graduated in this vicinity, and having studied the sabject, not only in this country, but in London—the cradle of ritualism—where he was brought into contact with many distinguished clergymen, he might say something that was not altogether unwirthy of attention. He then proceeded to discuss the subject from its inception by Dr. Keeble in 1838 up to the present time, referring chiefly to the many reasons which prompted the changes, showing how the doctrines of the Church of England were reversed by many of the divines of Oxford, and how the sentiment in favor of ritualism gradually increased. After dilating at considerable length on the progress of ritualism, how the various rites introduced were gradually being regarded with more respect, he proceeded to state that at the beginning the main current of the English had gone against the introduction of attars in their churches. The divines of Oxford looked around for some ground of defence. Incense was introduced. Beautiful robes began to be worn and candles were lighted, and for what? It could not be thought that those great men were stilly, and that their demonstrations were made merely for show. They were learned and pious men struggling for hight and for truth, and when they robed themselves as priests they believed that they were priests. Therefore ritualism was not a show, a thing to be ridicused and despised, but it was a great movement of the Angican church towards her long lost catholicity. (Cheers.) The present advocates of ritualism were the morning stars rising out of the darkness of England. (Applause.) The lecturer next referred to the works of Dr. Newman and Faber, commenting at leng "Ritualism" by Dr. J. W. Rogers, of Memphis, Tenn. Several distinguished clergymen occupied seats on

AMUSEMENTS.

APOLLO HALL-COMPLIMENTARY CONCERT TO MADAME VARIAN HOFFMAN.—A large and very select audience assembled last evening at Apollo Hall to listen to the musical treat there offered. The stars of the evening were Madame Hofman, Theodore Habelman and Gustavus F. Hall. Madame Hofman was dressed in the most tasteful manner, Hofman was dressed in the most tasteful manner, and from the rare arrangement of various flowers was an aliegorical representation of spring. The selections were among the best. The aria "Ah forse elui," from "Travista," "Ave Maria" and Miliard's song, "Waiting," were sing in a manner by Madame Hoffman which called rap'urous applianse from the andience, as a just tribute to a rare, pure and well cultivated voice. The celebrated "Shadow Song," sumg by Mrs. C. Farnum, aithough showing fine execution and well trained powers, lacked in real musical notes and natural sweatness of voice. "My Angel" and "Gute Nacht" by Habelmann, the songs by the favorite baritone Hall, the brilliant music by Comelias and Barili, the pinnists, and Alfred Hofman, the violinist, were marked features of the evening, which tended to the general musical contentment of the audience.

Musical and Theatrical Notes. The venerable "Humpty Dumpty" is growing weak in his myriad legs and is preparing to slip gracefully into retirement. This pale-faced mischievous chap, who has tickled the town with his drollery for over a year, cuts up his last capers on Saturday evening, the 15th Inst., when the piece will have reached about 500 representations. The final performance will be for the benefit of Humpty Dumpty Fox, most will be for the benefit of Humpty Dumpty Fox, most decidedly one of the greatest clowns extant. On the following Monday the summer season will be inaugurated at the Olympic with a new pantomime by Fox entitled "Little Red Riding Hood, or Harlequin Jack and the Bean Stalk," which has been in course of preparation for months. The scenery promised is to be of rare excellence, and has been painted by Mr. James E. Hays.

During the three remaining nights of this week Tostée and Irma will appear at the Fifth Avenue theatre in the same piece every night—namely. "Le Mariage aux Lauternes." On Monday evening next the opera of "Les Dragons de Vilars" will be produced for the first time in this country at this establishment.

OBITHARY.

The Philadelphia Evening Telegraph reports the death in Philadelphia of General John Ely, recently appointed United States Marshal for the Eastern district of Pennsylvania, on Tuesday night, from suffocation, caused by bleeding of the lungs. The deceased about ten o'clock went out with a party of ceased about ten o'clock went out with a party of ladies and partook of some lee cream. On arriving at the house a niece of the General walked up the steps and said, "Uncle, you can't jump up three steps." He did so, and on landing on the upper step said he felt badly. He immediately repaired to his room, where he died shortly afterwards. It is supposed that in the effort to jump he ruptured a blood vessel. General Ely was about fifty-five years of age, and married. He had just moved into Philadelphia from Bucks county, where he was born. He served with considerable distinction in the rebeillon, during which he rose from the rank of major to that of colonel and brevet major general. He entered the service as major of the Twenty-third regiment Pennsylvania Volunteers, and was rapidly promoted to the licutenant colonelcy and colonelcy of the regiment. Subsequently, for meritorious services, he was brevetted brigadier and major general. He was Provost Marshal General of New Jersey, and also filled the same position 'n West Virginia, Later he was designated Superintendent of the Freedmen's Bureau of Kentucky, in which capacity he served until the disbandment of that department. At the battle of Fair Oaks, May 31, 1862, he showed considerable galiantry, and while leading his regiment was wounded in the leg, which was subsequently amputated. ladies and partook of some ice cream.
